

Naropa Chaplaincy Project

chaplains @naropa.edu | (303.245.4823)

Patrick Whiting

Katie McEwen

Tyler Norris

Adina Dlugose

Bret Parrish

Beth Huesing

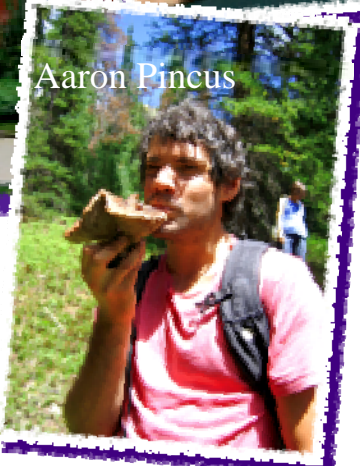

Lee Sylvester

Fay Moore

Gena Cline

Aaron Pincus

2010-2011

Naropa Chaplaincy Project 2010-2011

chaplains@naropa.edu (303.245.4823)

The Naropa Chaplaincy Project is an offering organized by a “team” of third and fourth-year students dedicated to helping members of Naropa University and the larger community. Chaplaincy runs the whole gamut of experience, which can include deep listening, tears, presence, laughter, prayer, play, silence, and/or emotional and spiritual support. As chaplains, we also serve external internships with hospitals, hospices, mental health services and "nontraditional" ministries dedicated to social activism and community development. Each of us embodies chaplaincy in unique ways, while sharing an intention to be available and open to whatever arises. We look forward to meeting you.

Gena Cline - is a 3rd year student in the Masters of Divinity program. She is happy to be available if and when needed.

Adina Dlugose - is continuing her internship as a chaplain at Boulder Community Hospital and is very interested in interfaith endeavors and explorations. She is a Shambhala Buddhist and enjoys the ocean, warm summer days, palm-trees, cats, comedy and spending time with friends and family.

Fay Elliott-Moore - earned her MBA in Organizational Behavior and Consulting. She is a certified Authentic Happiness Coach as well as being trained in Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction, medical hypnotherapy, Reiki, Therapeutic Touch, and Journey Work. She has the experience of the corporate world as well as the gifts of a natural care-giver. She is a hospice volunteer, is in the MDiv program, and would be happy to meet you and serve you.... FMoore@Students.Naropa.edu

Beth Huesing - is a 3rd Year MDiv student. She has been a classroom teacher both in the US and abroad and has worked in the high tech field as a technical writer. Beth has interned as a chaplain at Boulder Community Hospital.

Katie McEwen - “Hello! I’m a third year M.Div. student, a Writing Seminar I teacher, a Canadian, and a hospice volunteer. I enjoy sharing stories, participating in wisdom circles, creating rituals and celebrations...as well as biking, canoeing, raspberry picking, meditating and singing. Most of all, I like people and would love to meet you!”

Tyler Norris - is a social entrepreneur and a trusted advisor to philanthropies, health systems, governments, and collaborative partnerships working to improve the health of people and places. He is a part-time Naropa MDiv student, exploring the connection between contemplative practice and authentic leadership. His dive into perennial wisdom traditions and natural intelligence is to bring awareness, clarity and compassion to engaged service on issues facing humanity. Please contact Tyler via the NCP to set an advance appointment.

Bret Parrish - There once was a young man named Bret... Who as a chaplain he was your best bet... He’s bright and he’s sunny; he’s caring and funny. It’s a call that you;ll never regret. (Oh, by the way - he’s also certified in “Laughter Yoga”!!!)

Aaron Pincus - I am a third year Master of Divinity student of Naropa University. I have spent the past summer working as a Chaplain with the whirlwind tapestry of human suffering and joy at Beacon Place Transitional Home in West Denver. I am fired up for my final year of the M.Div Program and composing my thesis: Buddhist Poetics: Writing Your Mind. My special interests are bicycles, kale, poetry and meditation, and listening to the world sing its colorful naked symphony. Feel free to contact me for an unconditional ear or sharing in any of my aforementioned interests at apincus@students.naropa.edu.

Lee Sylvester - I am a third year Masters of Divinity student, graduate assistant in the religious studies department, and former graduate assistant for the Diversity Seminar. A Buddhist practitioner from the Tibetan Kagyü tradition, I also have a background connecting me with Christian and Pagan traditions. In my “free” time I enjoy watching football, playing video games, connecting with others, and doing my best to enjoy each moment. If I can be of support in some way or you just want to connect with someone new along your journey, I would love to hear from you. I can be reached at asylvester@students.naropa.edu.

Patrick Whiting - Patrick is.... Well, if you haven’t met him - you should. If you see him around, introduce yourself. You’re also free to give a call or drop a line.